

Can you travel around the world in 80 days?

This is our topic homework for this half term. I have outlined a number of different homework activities to choose from. Each activity relates to our topic. Please encourage your child to choose one to complete each week and bring it to school on Friday if appropriate. Please note the children are expected to complete at least 4 pieces of topic homework over the half term. Please ask if resources are needed to complete the activities e.g. paper.

Children are expected to read for 5-10 minutes each night and play their maths game/complete their maths activities. Year 2 children will receive a maths activity to complete. This is to prepare them for homework in class 2 - This will be sent out on Fridays and is due in the following THURSDAY so that it can be marked and returned by Friday.

Important Information

Reading books and year 1 maths games will be checked and changed on Wednesdays. Please ensure they are in school every day and tick and/or comment in the children's diary when they have read their books. If they haven't been ticked then they will not be changed.

High frequency words will be checked throughout the week, please ensure they are in school every day.

Make your own flag of a country that you are interested in.

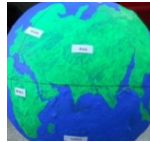

Can you travel around the world in eighty days?

Speaking and Listening Activity
Talk to somebody about a recent trip or holiday. Write a report that you could read out to the rest of the class.

Make your own model globe. You could even label the different continents and oceans.

Research a famous explorer. You can choose how you want to record what you have found out.

Do some research about a particular country or continent. Write 3 facts about it.

Imagine that you are an explorer and you have just discovered a new island. Draw a map of the island.

Visit somewhere in the local area. Write a list to show the different features e.g. trees, houses, church etc.

Visit the library and read some non-fiction books about different countries.

Write a story that is set in a particular country. What could the main character do in this country?

Make an information poster about a particular country. Remember to use interesting facts and illustrations.

Can you make up your own homework about our topic?

Prepare a short presentation that you can present to the rest of the class about a place that you have visited. You can use photographs and illustrations to help you if you want to.

Make your own travel brochure. Make a booklet to encourage someone to visit a particular country or continent. You could include flags, maps, facts and pictures in your booklet.
