Dear Parents,

Progress Reports

We are writing to let you know that progress reports will be sent out at the end of the school day today, or provided during Parents' Evening for those attending appointments.

These reports are part of a new format we are introducing this year, replacing the target sheets that were previously shared during Parents' Evening. We hope that the tick-box style layout offers a clearer and more comprehensive overview of your child's attainment, behaviour, and engagement in school.

For children in Reception to Year 4, the report also includes a section on attainment, which reflects a 'point in time' assessment of where we currently predict your child will be by the end of the academic year. This is aligned with our new assessment tracking system that teachers are now using. Please note that this prediction may fluctuate throughout the year, depending on your child's progress and engagement in their learning.

As we are only five weeks into the school year, we understand that many children are still settling in—especially those who have recently moved up a key stage. We encourage you to view this initial report as a helpful snapshot rather than a fixed outcome.

We hope that this new progress report format proves to be a more effective tool in giving you a clearer picture of your child's development and learning journey.

Thank you for your continued support.

With warm regards,

David Elliott-Hancock
